Venice, June 26.

WE have advice that the Procurator Morosini Captain General of the Forces of this State, is arrived at Lessina, and that he hath sent orders to all the Galleys that are employed on the Coasts of Dalmatia to joyn him. The Morlaques continue to be very troublesome to the Turks; They have of late defeated several of their Parties; and are preparing to take the Field in a great Body, some of the Troops of this State being, it's said, appointed to joyn with them. By the way of Raguſa we have an account that the Poles and Cossacks have obtained a great Victory upon the Turks on the Frontiers of Moldavia, which is confirmed by Letters of the 27th of the last month from Belgrade. We have likewise advice that the Bassa of Bossina has been strangled by order of the Grand Signior, because he did not march with the Troops of that Country towards the Bridge of Essecke, to secure it, according to the orders he had received. The Letters from Constantinople of the Fifth of May tell us, That two great Armies were raising, the one to be employed against the Poles under the command of Solyman Bassa, the Grand Signiors Caimacan; and the other in Hungary commanded by the Bassa of Mesopotamia, who during the Government of the late Grand Visier was disgraced; They are both esteemed very good Commanders, and are well beloved by the Soldiers; And that of these two Armies the first will be the greatest, but will both consist chiefly of Asiatick Troops, which are raw and undisciplined. That several Bassa's were on their march with the Troops under their command towards Adrianople. That orders had been sent to the Bassa of Smirna, to put 3000 men into Candia to reinforce the Troops that are already there. That the Bassa of Damascus was appointed to command on the side of Dalmatia and Bossina. And that the Grand Signior had made his great Favorite Caplan Bassa, that is Admiral of his Fleet, who was accordingly come to Constantinople, and pretended to put to Sea in a short time with a Fleet of 40 Galleys.

Genoua, June 24. This week departed the Goodwill, the Rebecca, the Katherine, and the Hopeful Adventure, all four for the Coast of Spain; and the Crown and Colchester are preparing to follow on the same Voyage. The Antego Merchant sailed two days agone for Leghorne; and in few days may likewise depart the Leghorne Merchant to lade Oyles at Oneglia; besides which there are now in this Port the Susanna, the Advice, and the Lyon.

Milan, June 26. It's said a new Alliance is concluded between the Crown of Spain and the Republick of Genoua: And that besides the Levy that's making in Lombardy, our Governor the Count de Melgar has undertaken to raise two thousand Swissers for the Service of that State.

Vienna, June 29. We have had no Letters from Hungary since those that gave us an account that the Imperial Army was marching towards Pest, and that it was believed they would in their way attack Novigrad. Eleven Regiments that had their Winter Quarters in Silesia, Stiria, &c. had not then joyned the Army; but orders have been sent them to use all the diligence possible in their march, that so the Duke of Lorrain may be in a condition to make head against the Enemy, in case they should appear in any considerable Body to relieve Buda, as several Letters from those parts assure us they will. We are told from Cracow by Letters of the 14th Instant, that the Crown General was gone to the Army; That the King continued at Jawarow, as well to confirm his Health, as to expect the Ambassador of Venice, who was on his way, and whom his Majesty intended to receive there. These Letters add, that the Marquis de Bethune was arrived at Jawarow from France, but that he did not own to have any publick Character, but said he came to serve as a Volontier in the approaching Campagne.

Lintz, June 30. Two days since arrived here the Hofman Funcke with four Standards that were taken from the Turks on the 17th Instant in the Action near Gran, which he hath presented to the Emperor; and at the same time gave his Imperial Majesty a particular relation, as well of the said Action as of the taking of Visegrad. His Imperial Majesty has given the Regiment of Cuirassiers, lately commanded by Major General Halloweil, who was killed in that occasion, to Colonel Heusler. Since we have an account that the Duke of Lorrain has put a Garison into Vaccia, and that his Highness advanced with the Imperial Army towards Pest; And at the same time we are told that a Body of 25000 Turks have passed the Bridge of Essecke, and marched towards Buda, and that they are followed by a greater number; and that the Duke of Lorrain, upon the news he had of it, had sent orders to the Troops that had not yet joyned him, to hasten their march. Our Letters from Poland inform us, that that King had committed the conduct of the Army to the Palatine of Russia, the Crown General, not being himself yet well enough to go into the Field, but that he had declared he would follow so soon as his Health was re-established. Count Teckeley having rejected
